

Silver

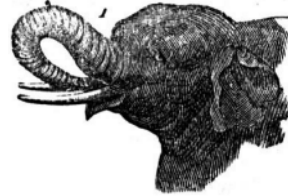

Gold

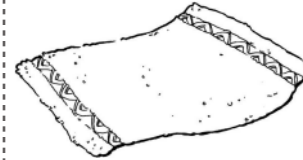

Lead

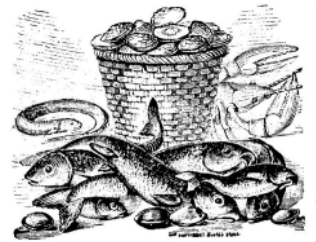

Ivory

Beds

Fish

Wild
Animals

Fruit

Glassware

Nuts

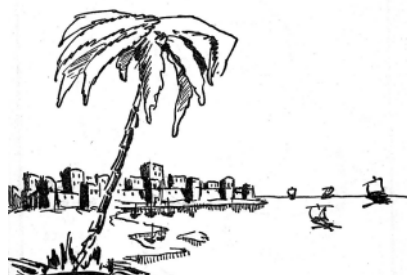

Jewelry

Pottery

A sudden storm destroyed some of your competitor's cargo. Take one card from another player of your choice.

Oh no! Your ship was robbed! Place one of your product cards face up on the table.

You make a deal with a ship from Egypt. If there is a product card you want face up on the table, you may trade it for one of your product cards.

You deliver cargo to a merchant, and he gives you a big tip. Take a product card from the draw pile.

You buy unsold goods from another trader, and sell them at a profit. Take one product card from another player's hand.

A fellow trader agrees to purchase your surplus goods. The player of your choice must give you one of his or her cards.

A fellow trader sells his business to you. Draw three product cards from the draw pile. Keep the two that you want and give the other to the player of your choice.

You have a great day selling in the local marketplace! If there are any product cards face up on the table, take one of your choice.

The man you hired to guard your ship has betrayed you and stolen your goods! Place one of your product cards face up on the table.

Your ship was robbed in the night! Place one of your product cards face up on the table.

You catch a thief on a ship next to you in the harbor! One other player of your choice must place one of his or her product cards face up on the table.

Servants of the queen are seen buying your goods and business soars! Draw one product card from the draw pile or one of any that are face up on the table.

You discover a talented craftsman eager to sell you his goods. If there are any product cards face up on the table, take one of your choice.

Make a trade. Another player of your choice has to trade one of his or her product cards for one of yours.

Your crew carelessly destroys cargo while unloading your ship. Place one of your product cards face up on the table.

A fellow trader owes you money and you agree to let him or her pay in goods. Draw a product card from the hand of the player of your choice.

An earthquake damages your warehouse and items are stolen! Give one product card to another player.

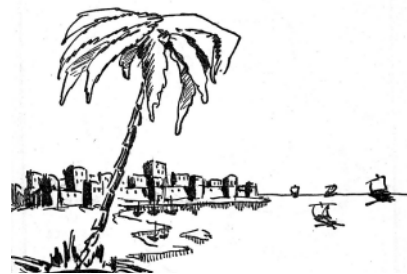

A tax official arrives to collect. Place one of your product cards face up on the table.

The king offers you a contract to supply the palace! Draw two product cards from the draw pile or from any that are face up on the table.

A craftsman sells you his goods at a bargain price. Draw two product cards from the draw pile.

A craftsman fails to deliver your order on time. Place one of your product cards face up on the table.

You and a fellow merchant sell goods for a banquet. Draw two product cards from the draw pile. Keep one and give the other to the player of your choice.

The winds are blowing your way and you reach your port of destination early! Draw one product card each from two other players' hands.

A weary caravan sells you goods at a great price! Take two product cards from the draw pile.

